POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Announcements under this heading will be charged for at the rate of $10 for each announcement, same to be run up to the time of the holding of the convention of the political party for which the candidate declares himself.

I am a candidate for re-nomination as a representative in congress from the First congressional district of the state of Utah subject to the action of the republican district convention.

JACOB JOHNSON.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county clerk, subject to the action of the republican county convention of Carbon county, Utah.

R. S. HORNLEY.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of county auditor, subject to the action of the republican county convention of Carbon county, Utah.

W. N. WETZEL.

Kaiser Wilhelm, in addressing the German army just previous to its departure for Belgium, advised his soldiers to fight for Germany and God would be with them. The army followed instructions by attacking the forts at Liege, with the result that between twenty-five and thirty thousand are reported to be with God. "Me und Gott."

Price is already feeling the effect of the European war or the effect of something else. Sugar this week is almost even three dollars higher than last and flour merchants have been advised of a nice little raise on present bookings. Beginning yesterday afternoon $5 would not touch a sack of Utah beet sugar. In fact the wholesale price went up to $7.95, which makes the consumer pay the retailer pay quite a few cents more than that. As sugar commenced to climb Tuesday there was a lively scramble for it at the local stores and as a result there is very little left in the city. A car load will arrive in a day or two, but this is already sold.

Business is, with remarkable power of resistance, adapting itself to conditions unprecedented in the history of the world, says Dun's Review. Never has this country given more convincing proof of its ability to meet grave emergencies promptly and effectively. Already conspicuous progress has been made in the work of preventing demoralization in the markets and preserving order and sanity in all branches of trade. The government, the clearing houses and the exchanges have combined to reduce to a minimum the disorders incident to a world crisis of unparalleled dimensions. No far as this favored country is concerned, the worst financial storm is over and the markets are gradually getting into a position where material advantage may be derived from the disturbance. The interruption to export trade, due to the situation in foreign exchange and the withdrawal of ocean shipping facilities, is now the chief cause of trouble, export freights beginning to pile up at shipping centers, but concerted measures are being taken to relieve this condition as far as practicable. The grain markets have naturally been away more by the foreign war news than by the estimates of domestic crops. Nearly all reports from important trade centers, and particularly those in the agricultural districts, indicate trade conditions as ready to expand as soon as the present excitement is passed; and even as it is the volume of domestic exchanges is large, while a significant and encouraging incident was the reduction of the discount rate on Thursday by the Bank of England from 10 to 8 per cent and the Bank of France from 7 to 6 per cent. In the iron and steel industry, the advance in billets and bars is an outward sign of improvement, and this betterment would no doubt be more conspicuous but for the international uncertainties. The railroads have been benefited by the agreement to arbitrate the western labor dispute, and by the decision in the rate case which has given at least partial relief to railroad capital, by allowing advances to the lines in central territory. The textile trades naturally are held in check by the effects of the European wars, but when the violence of these has passed, and more normal conditions are restored, they should respond to the new demands inevitably to be created by big crops at home and acute necessities in other lands.

Constipation Causes Sickness.

Don't permit yourself to become constipated, as your system immediately begins to absorb poison from the backed up waste matter. Use Dr. King's New Life Pills and keep well. There is no better safeguard against illness. Just take one dose tonight. Twenty-five cents at your druggist.—Adv.

The Best Medicine In the World.

"My little girl had dysentery very bad. I thought she would die. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured her, and I can truthfully say that I think it is the best medicine in the world," writes Mrs. William Orvik, Clare, Mich. For sale by all dealers.—Ad.

"Count," said the lady to the foreign nobleman at the charity bazaar, "won't you buy this rose? It is only five dollars."

"I am very sorry," said the count, "but so price is a little too high."

The lady kissed the rose. "And now, Count, will you buy it?"

"No, Madame," he said with a still deeper bow; "now so rose is priceless."

To Whom It May Concern.

As per statement in last week's News, wishing to correct same, R. J. Turner is not nor has he been in any way connected with the Price Almonds.

OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK RESULT OF THE WAR

BELIEVE UNITED STATES WILL PROFIT IMMENSELY.

May Have Effect of Putting This Country a Hundred Years Ahead of Its Present Prosperity—Sure to Open Up All Industries.

Just what the European war means to this country from the standpoint of prosperity is the basis of some highly interesting articles in the press of the United States. They are both optimistic and pessimistic. On the side of the former probably none has come into print telling of the wonderful future ahead on account of the war than one in Sunday's Salt Lake Tribune from a correspondent, and which follows:

While thirty-four million soldiers in Europe are getting ready for, or are actually taking part in, what seems to be the most terrific engagements on land in the history of the world, and the navies of France, England, Germany and Russia are maneuvering for what must be the most terrible sea battles of all time, I believe men of brains, of experience, of foresight all over the United States are thinking and planning as they think, for an era of prosperity greater than the most optimistic could possibly have even dreamed of thirty days ago.

Due in 30 to 90 Days.

This war will place the prosperity of the United States hundreds of years ahead of the schedule, and natural order of things, as it appeared thirty days ago, and this prosperity is coming toward us with such a rush that it will amount to a tidal wave within a year, and will be large enough to overwhelm us within from thirty to ninety days.

The first big sea engagement, in all probability, will destroy so many ships that the United States will awake some morning to find herself the mistress of the seas, instead of third or fourth in the order of naval strength, and as the building of warships requires years, it is safe to say her supremacy in this regard will never again be taken from her. If the world works toward universal peace, the United States will then be in an enviable position, and if the world works toward a continuation of war, no nation will be sufficiently strong to defeat her.

Today the countries which have been selling us between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 worth of goods each year are at war, and under no circumstances will they be able to resume manufacturing for a long time to come, which means manufacturing in the United States will increase to an extent never before known, and the raw materials which have been shipped to Europe to be made into finished products and then resold to us will be turned out in our own factories, by our own employees.

Will Develop Idle Lands.

That steps will at once be taken to enlarge our merchant marine, to the end that the paths through the seas of the world may be kept open to commerce, and shipping may be protected, seems assured, and when this is accomplished the way will be open for development work in the United States which will turn every acre of tillable land into a producing field, and result in a chain of factories from the Atlantic to the Pacific that will give employment to millions who are now idle.

Imports Are Large.

From England alone we imported, in 1912, goods amounting to $252,469,237, and from Germany we received $188,693,971 worth. We sent $135,87,990 of American goods to France during the same year, $19,192,414 to Austria-Hungary and $26,958,690 to Russia. And even to Serbia, the sixth and smallest country involved in the present war, we contributed more than half a million dollars for various products. The total for one year, 1912, was $625,155,795, and this represents only a portion of the goods which we send to Europe annually for manufactured goods. With war devastating, or threatening, to an alarming extent, the industries of all these countries, the United States must, and will, start more factory wheels and begin to manufacture all lines of goods needed on a larger scale than ever before.

Our Greatest Opportunity.

In doing so we are not taking advantage of any nation, but rather are we brought to a realization that circumstances over which we have no control have placed in our hands the greatest opportunity the United States has ever enjoyed.

Each year we have been sending millions and millions of dollars' worth of cotton to other countries, there to be made into clothing and shipped back to us as finished products, which now should be, and no doubt will be, handled at home.

In 1912 we exported 9,199,693 bales of domestic cotton, each bale containing five hundred pounds, and a large percentage of this was repurchased by dealers of the United States, and subsequently by our citizens, in finished products. This amount of cotton represented a fraction more than 64 per cent of our crop for the year.

It is reasonable to suppose that with business at a standstill in Paris, for instance, and no goods being shipped here, we will soon face the problem of "producing our own styles" in dress, without sending to Paris for either the styles or the goods. Likewise we will begin to manufacture all kinds of goods for women, such as high grade hosiery, millinery, lace, etc. This in itself is a big item, a tremendous one, in fact, for Paris alone draws tens of millions of dollars each year from goods worn in the United States.

In 1913 the United States imported from France almost a million dollars' worth of millinery alone, and for lace and embroideries we sent our checks for $5,000,000. During the same year we sent $5,000,000 more for feathers, and for laces and articles coming under the head of linens, $1,218,000.

And this list could be extended if the various countries which are now engaged in war were taken into consideration, almost indefinitely. The fact that our supply in almost countless lines is shut off brings us face to face with the problem of supplying the various articles ourselves, and incidentally this suggests the increase in manufacturers and employment for the idle.

South America Big Factor.

But the demand for our own goods in Europe at present, and the increased demand which will result from the closing down of the industries there, is only a part of the field that awaits us. South America, largely dependent upon European countries for the goods imported, is at our doors, and with the opening of the canal sum certainly become a large importer of goods made in the United States.

For the reasons outlined briefly, I can see nothing but prosperity ahead for the nation. It is Europe's war, not America's. It is war of the destructive kind, and will be far-reaching in its effects. As a nation we have worked for peace, and as a nation we deplore the ravages of the present war, but we cannot close our eyes to the duty which confronts us, and which points the way to a perfectly natural period of development and prosperity, the like of which optimists have never before dreamed.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

WIDTSOE, CHRISTENSEN AND MARCUS MAKE REPLY

Alleging that they had no knowledge of any committee acting for all or a majority of the teachers of the state in recommending the nomination of any person for state superintendent of public instruction, John A. Widtsoe, D. H. Christensen and Carl R. Marcus of the state board of education, replied Sunday to the communication of W. H. Pollard. Mr. Pollard inquired of the board Thursday their attitude in becoming active in attempting to name a non-partisan candidate for the office.

Some time ago a committee of educators suggested to the three principal political parties of the state that Dr. E. G. Gowans of the state industrial school at Ogden be named as the non-partisan candidate of the three parties for this position. Acting on this suggestion the democratic and progressive parties nominated Dr. Gowans. The republican state convention has not yet been held.

Since that time A. C. Matheson, the present state superintendent, has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination. What action will be taken at the republican convention with regard to the nomination of Dr. Gowans on the non-partisan plan is not known.

Infection & Insect Bites Dangerous.
Mosquitoes, flies and other insects, which breed quickly in garbage pails, ponds of stagnant water, barns, musty places, etc., are carriers of disease. Every time they bite you, they inject poison into your system from which some dread disease may result. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It is antiseptic and a few drops will neutralize the infection caused by insect bites or rusty nails. Sloan's Liniment disinfects cuts, bruises and sores. You cannot afford to be without it in your home. Money back if not satisfied. Only 25c at your druggist.—Adv.

Good Reason For His Enthusiasm.
When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel trouble and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, it is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially is this the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.
